

The Jeté Society Scholarship Fund

Co-founded in 1944 by Mary Day and Lisa Gardiner, The Washington School of Ballet (TWSB) is internationally recognized for its classical training and dedication to excellence in dance and dance education. The Washington School of Ballet prides itself on attracting the best young dancers from around the globe and currently provides training to students from Australia, Brazil, Colombia, the Dominican Republic, Hong Kong, Italy, Japan, Mexico, South Africa and Spain. Many of TWSB's students receive full-tuition scholarships to study at the School, and many need housing and food subsidies as well. TWSB never turns away promising students due to financial constraints, providing $93,000 worth of scholarships to students annually.

To support The Washington School of Ballet's efforts to provide high-quality dance training to every interested student, the Jeté Society has established a student scholarship fund to provide at least one student with a $7,000 full-tuition scholarship to TWSB during the 2010.2011 school year. You can support the Jeté Society's efforts to help one young dancer's dream of studying at TWSB come true by making a tax deductible donation to the fund today.
